CONSULTATION POLICY

New Client Consultations: For new clients an initial 15-minute phone consultation is FREE. An appointment for an in-person initial office consultation also may be scheduled, if needed (see below). After-hours, weekend, and out-of-office consultations are available for special needs clients. An appointment is not required for new client phone consultations.

Office Consultations: New and existing clients always are welcome to schedule an in-person office consultation to discuss any legal issues. The fee for an office consultation is $75.00 per hour. Appointments for in-person office consultations may be arranged by either email or phone. Office consultations are scheduled Monday through Friday between the hours of 10am and 4pm. After-hours, weekend, and out-of-office consultations also are available for clients with special needs. An appointment is required for all office consultations.

Telephone Consultations: Existing clients also have an option to schedule a formal telephone consultation to discuss any ongoing legal issues. Many clients appreciate this option, especially those with busy schedules. The fee for a formal telephone consultation is $50.00 per hour. Appointments may be arranged by either email or phone. Telephone consultations are scheduled Monday through Friday between the hours of 10am and 4pm. An appointment is required for all formal telephone consultation; however, not every issue requires a formal consultation. If you have only a simple question, a formal consultation usually is not necessary. Just give us a call.

Document Review: Clients may submit legal documents for review by the attorney. The fee for document review is $95 per hour. No appointment is necessary for document review. Please submit the request along with a brief description of the documents within your MyCase secure client account. The documents can be uploaded using the "Upload Document" feature. If the documents are not in electronic format and cannot be uploaded, please make sure to deliver only copies of the documents to our office. All original documents should be retained by the client.

Email Communications: Due to privacy concerns, regular email is not an appropriate forum to communicate certain types of information, especially confidential information. Please use the email feature within your secure MyCase account for confidential communications. For some situations, it may even be necessary to schedule a consultation (either by phone or in-person) to assure confidential communications.
